

I do not want the state of Indiana to be pre-empted. I am tired of credit card companies, whom I have done business with, calling me for every little program they decide I must have. If I am reading this correctly, any company that I have dealt with in the past will be allowed to call me even if I have had problems with that company. Example: an Indiana tire installation company prescreened brakes on a van that I was leasing. Three weeks later I had $700 in brake repair costs. Do I want THAT company to call me back ... NO. We would never have signed up for the "no call list" if we wanted to be called. I speak not only for myself but for many of my friends and acquaintences. What part of NO do you not understand. NO CALLS!
